GREETINGS for the 1961 Iris Season. Wishing you the very best bloom that your iris garden has ever given you and a Dykes Medalist or two in your seedling patch.

This year we would like to see a whole batch of people who have never grown iris, begin in at least a small way. The more people who join us in this exciting time of year, the higher the excitement soars. If you who do grow iris can get through these last few weeks before the actual bloom begins without a heady dizziness plaguing your waking hours, you are not the enthusiast you should be. Take a better look at these beautiful flowers of yours this year.

To make it easier for more of you to get more and better iris we are having a "re-introductory sale" and the reason for that title is that this is our first catalog in a couple of years. Our new location is proving very satisfactory and you will receive the benefits of our new and very fertile soil.

Check the SALE PRICES and especially check the COLLECTIONS on the back of this catalog. You will be amazed at how many iris a few dollars will buy at these SPECIAL LOW PRICES—check them with others too. Try some different types of iris this year, besides the Tall Bearded iris you have always grown.

VISIT OUR NEW GARDENS, 4.6 miles east of Highway 99 on Copperopolis Road (Just around the corner on Best Lane). East Main St. out of Stockton becomes Copperopolis outside of town. Or phone us and we will give directions from where you are. HOward 5-8578.

BLOOM DATES: Miniature Dwarfs: Feb. 15—Mar. 15; Standard Dwarfs: Mar. 15—April 10; Intermediate and Arilbred: April 1—20; Tall Bearded, Border, Miniature Tall, Louisiana, Spuria: April 15—May 10; Hanashobu (Japanese Iris) May 20—June 10; Daylilies: June 1 on; Cannas: June on; Chrysanthemums: Oct. 1 until frost. Always SOMETHING blooming.

COLLECTORS: We still have a limited supply of all the Dykes Medal Iris (except Copper Lustre)—English, French and USA. Write for information and prices.

1961 INTRODUCTIONS

FAIR IMAGE (Sanford Babson) 38" ((E 61-3 ? x Cahokia) X (Red Shadows x Vatican Purple)) What a family tree! This strange medley of parent colors: a dark red maroon out of Mexico and Tobacco Road, a deep violet and a light blue, has combined to bring us the most exotic light blue and lavender blend that your fancy could dream of. The effect is at once misty and yet clearly defined. Deep in the throat strong maroon veins give a perspective of depth to the broad petalled, substantial domed standards and semi-flaring falls, ruffled and strikingly poised on well branched stems. Vigorous growth. 25.00

SUMMER HILLS (Sanford Babson) 36" (Figurine x Tobacco Road) This fully rounded flower gives the immediate impression of being an arilbred, but it is not. Very wide falls and domed standards are in a rich shade of ripened grain, a little darker on first opening, reminding you of the lovely hills of California in the summer. Won the Region 14 seedling cup for 1960 and has been very popular under the number G16-1 (or -2). Good branching. 15.00

FORAY (Ben R. Hager) 34" (Savage X Molten) The dictionary defines this word as "An invasion for the sake of plunder." Most appropriate for a first introduction. From a cross that has produced many good reds, we think this is the best one. Its only fault is a too-short stem for the huge flower, but it is well branched. Notably wide of parts, especially the almost smooth hafts. Of medium red color with neither too much brown nor blue in its shading. 15.00

TOLITA (Ruth Stephenson) 12" Standard Dwarf. A creamy white self but the base of the standards is flushed light blue and the beard is pale blue. Wonderful form & vigor. 5.00

FRANCES ELIZABETH (Sam Rix) A traveller, this Louisiana Iris has parents which came from the state of Louisiana, but she was born in New Zealand and came to California for her debut (There is a plant of this iris now growing in South Africa to add the final fillip). A magnificent iris with full wide form and heavy substance. The color of the semi erect standards and the gentle flare of the arching falls is a truly warm and appealing shade of carmine rose. The form is very nearly unique among Louisiana Iris and is exceptionally beautiful. Vigorous, disease resistant foliage and strong upright stem. 36" 15.00

TALL BEARDED IRIS

Shipments June 15 to Oct. 1
Check the SALE PRICES and SAVE

Yours will be The Garden Beautiful next spring if you fill it this year with this most spectacular of all garden flowers. The Tall Bearded iris are among the very top of the most popular garden flowers throughout the United States, and rightly so. For very little care you can have a garden full of vibrant spring color, yet each individual flower is pure magic to view close at hand. Consider these factors and see if the Tall Bearded iris isn't the flower for your garden: The widest range of full colors of almost any family of flowers; ease of culture, no coddling necessary; good growth in almost any soil; effective and companionable (if not shaded) when worked into your landscape plans. WHAT MORE COULD YOU ASK FOR? Especially when you recall that scintillating and almost overpowering display of color that iris will bring to your spring garden.

For simple cultural directions for Bearded Iris, see page 16. Bargain price collections will be found on the back cover. Don't miss them!

BEARDED IRIS CULTURE: These iris are the easiest of garden plants to grow and will give good results with a minimum of care, but like all plants, the better the culture, the more magnificent the display. These will grow well in nearly any soil. Sandy soils are the poorest for iris culture, but may be built up with plenty of humus. Heavy soils are good but should be broken down with gypsum. In both extremes a mulch of wood shavings or other like material is good in the summer months. Plant the rhizomes deep in sandy soils (1" cover of soil) and high in heavy soils (rhizomes exposed). Modulate this procedure in soils in between these extremes. IRRIGATION: Iris must have GOOD DRAINAGE, but should never be allowed to dry out completely. Never keep them too wet, but keep the soil moist and friable. DO NOT SHADE IRIS WITH OTHER PLANTS SUCH AS ANNUALS IN THE SUMMER. Feeding is important. Use a COMPLETE (4-10-10 with all trace elements analysis) FERTILIZER generously right after blooming time and a smaller application in late February. If leaf spot is a problem use a spray of Captan with a "sticker spreader" added (kitchen detergent will substitute at the rate of 1 teaspoon per gallon of spray), repeat in the spring after each rainy spell. Transplant and divide iris clumps every three years. At that time use a new bed or thoroughly rework the soil with steer manure and complete fertilizer.

SPURIA IRIS

FALL DELIVERY Shipment Sept. 1 Aug. 15 to colder areas.
BLOOM DATES IN CALIFORNIA: April 25 to May 10

We are offering a selected list of spurias we grow. If there are some particular varieties that you are interested in, please contact us. SPURIA CULTURE is simple, Spurias being the only "beardless" iris which do not require special soil conditions. They do like a soil enriched with steer manure or other humus. GOOD DRAINAGE IS ESSENTIAL. Regular garden irrigation is recommended. GET ACQUAINTED WITH THIS STURDY, BEAUTIFUL IRIS!

BOTH FLOWERS AND FOLIAGE OF THIS GROUP ARE USEFUL TO FLOWER ARRANGERS

CULTURE: THE ACID BED. This is necessary for most beardless iris such as Louisianas, Laevigatas, Siberians and the Hanashobu (Japanese Iris). An acid bed is easily achieved by adding at least one quarter, by volume, of humus to your garden soil (steer manure, peat moss, compost, etc.) and mixing in soil sulfur according to the directions on the package. Varying amounts of irrigation are needed, Siberian and Louisiana iris should be kept fairly moist. Hanashobu and Laevigatas should be kept wet, at least in the spring months. Build a dike around the beds to hold flood water. A mulch of two to three inches of wood shavings or such material is good for all these iris. Add nitrogen occasionally with the mulch method. Fertilize with camellia food annually.

HANASHOBU (JAPANESE IRIS) Fall shipment to cold areas. California shipment January to March. Bloom May 15 to June 10.

DAYLILIES (Hemerocallis)

SHIPMENT: July 1 to March 1.
Peak bloom during June.

This wonderful perennial should be better known in the west. If you are only familiar with the old yellow Lemon Lily, you have a very pleasant surprise awaiting you when you try some of the newer developments. Great advances have been made in flower form and wide variety of colors. Culture is very simple. Daylilies like rich soil with plenty of humus but will do very well in any good garden soil. Irrigate regularly during the bloom season which in most cases is all summer with a peak bloom in June. A 3" to 4" mulch of wood shavings or similar material is very helpful in retaining moisture and keeping a cool root run. Add nitrogen with the mulch. Fertilize with a complete fertilizer once a year.
